Only one risk management credit is applied per policy year. Subject to discretion of OMIC, credit for a second event attended in the same policy year may be applied for the following policy year.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

- Review the causes and treatments for common eye diseases.
- Recognize the classic clinical features of eye tumors.
- Describe new surgical techniques for treating various parts of the eye.
- Discuss global efforts to eliminate avoidable blindness.
- Identify factors that decrease the probability of errors.
- Identify ways to ensure practice sustainability through use of appropriate documentation and coding.
